

The image shows a map of a city area with streets and buildings. A large, thick orange line is drawn across the map, representing the SimRa approach. A legend box in the center contains two entries: a blue line segment followed by 'Our Approach All' and an orange line segment followed by 'SimRa All'. The orange line is significantly thicker and more complex than the blue line, indicating a more detailed or different reconstruction of the road network.

Our Approach All
SimRa All

(C) OpenStreetMap contributors